

Disaster designation may result from drought caused crop loss

by JAKE JACOB

President Jimmy Carter may declare Hancock County an agricultural disaster area as the result of the summer's prolonged drought.

Crops throughout the south east part of the state have been extensively damaged and although rain is now in the offing, fear is being expressed that due to insufficient moisture during the early stages of crop growth, the damage is irreversible.

The effect of such declaration will make low interest loans available to farmers for replanting and land working due to their having lost crop income.

An emergency planning board session was staged in Poplarville last week, attended by personnel of the County Agent's office, Farmers Home Administration, Soil Conservation Service, and Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

John Smith, Hancock's county agent, said following the meeting, that the results of their deliberations are being transmitted to Jackson for correlation with reports from other districts and subsequent onward routing to Washington.

Smith allowed the county's corn crop was hardest hit and said the group estimated the damage at 75 percent.

Other damage statistics were: soy beans - 40 percent; pasture 50-60 percent.

The pasture report is particularly vital as cattle being ranged at this time of year need the nutrients provided by the grass after it has gained its robustness through moisture occasioned growth.

Smith said, "While we didn't lose any cattle through lack of grass, the loss in protein value is causing farmers to have to subsidize the animal's normal feed."

He said the hay needed for winter was already being used, where it was available but much of the pasture was of insufficient quality or height to cut, factors destined to cause further trouble "down the road."

Speaking of soy beans, Smith said the earlier plantings are "...just not standing," and indicated a considerable cash loss would be felt as a result.

In areas not overly affected by drought, agricultural reports issued by the state show soybean acreage being 98 percent planted with about 94 percent "up to stand. Thirty percent is blooming compared to 14 percent last year. This acreage is reported as being in fair to good condition.

The state statistics for corn however more readily show the drought effect. The corn crop is cited as being in fair to poor condition with a state average of 83 percent silked compared to 76 percent last year and 66 percent for average.

A report from Forrest County shows permanent pastures recovering from drought with most being fertilized following rains. "Soybeans are looking better. Early corn was mostly beyond salvaging."

From Clay County comes the report,

"Rain throughout the week was a crop saver. The rain came too late for most of the corn."

From Pontotoc County it was reported that rain had fallen in parts of the county but that other parts were still dry and that they needed a general rain.

Crops were allegedly "...looking good..." but the cyst nematodes are damaging soybeans.

And from Tallahatchie County it was reported this week, "We have the best cotton prospect in many years. Insect pressure continues very light. Soybeans have responded to rains and looks like a bumper crop is developing. Cattlemen are not talking or joking very much."

Near to below median rainfall and above normal temperatures are expected throughout Mississippi from mid-July to mid-August, according to the National Weather Service outlook, distributed by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service (MCES).

This pattern should provide total rainfall from about three inches in the northwest to nearly seven inches on the coast.

Nights will continue to be quite warm, with temperatures mostly in the 70's. Daytime readings will be in the 80's with a new high reading above 100 degrees. Afternoon thundershowers may occasionally keep highest temperatures in the 80's, according to MCES.

"Recent rains have helped the soybean crop. Some beans are blooming earlier than usual and may need more rain than they are likely to receive," according to agrometeorologists at the Environmental Studies Service Center in Stoneville, who prepare the agricultural weather forecasts.

"Greater rainfall deficits are more likely in the eastern part of the state. Weed control will be difficult.

"Haying operations will face afternoon thundershowers, and growth may remain behind schedule where below normal rainfall occurs," the weathermen stated.

They said, "Timing of showers will be important to cotton crops."

"Under the conditions expected, some cotton may be under considerable moisture stress by mid-August. Insect control will require careful consideration of shower development, and chemical applicators should take advantage of radar reports of shower locations and movement as well as short term weather forecasts."

"Poultrymen and packers may need to develop better timing of shipments to reduce losses enroute and while unloading. Hot, humid early morning hours and little or no wind will work against poultry shipment. Several periods of severe heat stress in flocks in poultry houses will occur."

Finally agricultural statisticians have released details of last year's pecan crop.

Council asks engineering supervision on project

by JERRY WHITTLE

A controversy arose at the Tuesday meeting of the Bay St. Louis City Council over the lack of any planned engineering inspection of the Main Street Project. The matter was brought to the attention of the council during Mayor Larry Bennett's report, after he had presented a resolution for adoption which would authorize him to sign a contract with Williams Paving Co. (the low bidder on the project) in order that work proceed.

Councilman Fred Wagner put the matter of engineering supervision on the floor for discussion when he asked for a general update on the project. Following a brief outline of the project by Mayor Bennett, Wagner asked wio, if anybody, would see that the work was done correctly. The question was posed to representatives from Burk and Associates, who handle engineering work for the city, and they explained that there was a provision in the contract that they would oversee the work, if the city wanted them to do so. Additionally, they noted an engineer from the State Highway Department would make checks on the project work.

Councilman Pete Benvenuti asked, "If you (Burk) do the checking, it will then cost the city more money?" The answer was yes. The Burk representatives explained that was the way the contract was written, but that they would be glad to handle the supervision if the council so desired.

When asked for an approximate cost on the supervision, the Burk representatives stated that would be hard to do. However, Benvenuti and Wagner asked for an approximate cost on the work at a later date.

After Bennett presented the request for a resolution to the council, Benvenuti, who conducted the meeting in the absence of council president James Triffley, who is on vacation, said he was annoyed at the request because of a policy adopted by the council at their first meeting. The policy called for advance notice for items to be placed on the council's agenda. It was noted that Burk only received the letter from the state highway department on Friday of last week. Benvenuti added he felt they (Burk) should have called the city clerk to notify him of the resolution request. The council approved the mayor's signing the contract, but requested a delay in the work order until the matter of engineering supervision could be settled. In another matter concerning Burk, Bennett stated the company has dropped their monthly retainer of $200 to show their goodwill to the city. But the two representatives said the move would not mean they would discontinue any

Membership lack threatens county ambulance service

by JAKE JACOB

Dr. A.K. Martinolich, Jr. of Bay St. Louis, appeared before the Hancock County Board of Supervisors on Monday urging their support of the current membership drive being conducted by Mobile Medic Ambulance Service.

Martinolich is a member of the Hancock County Emergency Medical Services Board, and as such vitally concerned about the future of Mobile Medic's role in the county should its membership projection figures not be met.

"The ambulance service is trying to enroll 4,000 members in the county."

"As of July 13 only 775 people have joined."

He said that it will take 4000 members or $100,000 to operate the service in the county and suggested the balance must come from taxes.

Although privately owned, the ambulance service is a unit of the Hancock County Emergency Medical Service and is supported, in part, from tax revenue.

Doug Bergin, president, Mobile Medic, said they would like nothing better than to return the mill in tax money granted them last year to the Port and Harbor Commission, whose director Wilson Wehre, had earlier in the meeting pointed out such a sum had been chopped from his budget last year.

Bergin said the county has the population for membership but the company was finding it hard to get people to join.

"The other alternative is for you to get into the ambulance business," he told the supervisors.

Martinolich said "This county needs emergency medical services as much as it needs an airport," printing out to both the supervisors and Wehre that he

DuPont rail spur gets plans o.k.'s by supervisors

The rail spur to run from DuPont's new plant in DeLisle to the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad (ICG) has had its plans accepted by the Harrison County Board of Supervisors.

Earlier this month the board announced its intention to issue up to $12 million in industrial revenue bonds to finance construction of the spur.

When complete the ICG will lease the spur from the county for a 25 year period with lease payments going to retire the bond debt.

Present plans call for the spur to roughly parallel Interstate Highway 10 from the ICG mainline in Gulfport through to DeLisle.

Seeks millage reinstatement

$190,000 "no fat" budget asked by port commission

by JAKE JACOB

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission on Monday presented the county with a budget calling for expenditures of $190,000 over fiscal 1977-78.

To arrive at sufficient revenue to meet its proposed operations spending, the commission sought reinstatement of one mill in county tax proceeds, lobbied from last year's appropriations due to a surplus remaining in its operating account.

The supervisors took the budget under advisement without commenting either way on the mill reinstatement.

A like presentation made by the county health department was also tabled, an action generally taken until all budgets are received and totalled. Wilson W. Wehre, port director, who presented the figures, also submitted for the record a resolution of intent stating that the port commission was desirous of extending its agreement with Global Associates, its present management operator at Stennis International Airport, for an additional year.

While the terms of the contract are to remain almost identical, the guarantee amount was cut considerably due to anticipated revenues.

The new contract, when executed, will have a management fee maximum of $2500 per month to a per annum total of $30,000 on an accrued basis.

Wehre told the supervisors it was the first time the airport was making any profit.

"We did reach our goals and objectives this year," he said.

His budget shows the proposed management fee as a $30,000 line item, and this, plus the like sum anticipated in profits, will provide the management cost.

"Even if the county operated this facility it would cost $80,000 a year," Wehre claimed.

BSL police seek assistance

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Douglas Williams is seeking the assistance of the public during investigation of several recent burglaries within the city.

Chief Williams said BSL police are currently conducting an investigation into thefts at the James Noto home, DeMontluzin Ave., and at two apartment buildings.

Other items on the budget show Wehre's salary at $16,000, plus $2400 per year for his automobile, plus expenses; maintenance salaries amount to $31,230; clerical, $13,000; commission meeting and travel expense amounts to a further $10,000; office supplies and postage are given as a $3000 line item, as is $5000 in legal expenses and an additional $3000 for telephone and $9,750 for utilities.

Wehre said the budget was "without fat" and did not include any employee pay raises.

An inquiry from Supervisor Bert Courge as to whether or not the various leases did not provide revenue, Wehre replied that such was the case but that this money was pledged to loan and bond repayment and was not deposited into the general operating account.

Then, back with the dog to the old fishing spot.

In other port and harbor commission business, supervisors endorsed the extension for one year of an option originally granted on July 15, 1976, until July 15, 78, to Delta Concrete Piling, Inc. Hilton F. Daigle, president, on lands at Port Bienville. The company put some additional $5,796 into the escrow fund for the new lease term.

Supervisors also approved the rejection of the lone bid received by their commission for construction of a general purpose security and equipment building at Port Bienville. Dillman, Inc. of Bay St. Louis submitted the lone bid in the amount of $32,900 a sum some $13,000 over port engineer's estimates.

A committee has now been formed within the commission to determine alternate construction methods.

Also, the supervisors concurred in a request to advertise for bids on 2600 feet was fully conversant with the latter's problems as he had served a term as a port commissioner.

Both men defended the necessity of conducting a limited membership drive over leaving such a eventuality open all year.

"It is necessary for us to determine how much money we have for operations and equipment and to do that we need to know how many members we are going to have," Bergin said.

He said that newcomers to the area or others who had been unavoidably absent during the membership drive are and always have been, able to join outside of the drive period.

"The limited membership drive time has proved successful in the past both here and in other areas," Bergin claimed.

Martinolich estimated it would take the county some $300,000 to duplicate the service should they be forced into providing ambulance transportation.

"Our goal is to have a pure membership drive (to provide necessary funds for the service to operate in the county) but this has not been successful over the last four years.

"Perhaps through personal contact and endorsement your influence may help us achieve this figure and permit the service to operate independently of the tax roll," Martinolich indicated.

"Help us get as many members as possible..." he pled.

In response to an inquiry concerning renewal memberships by existing members who had not been notified by mail that such was due, Bergin said they could clip the coupon from the company's current newspaper advertisement and send that in with their subscription.

Supervisors indicated they would do whatever they could on a personal basis to have people join the service and authorized the publication of an advertisement verifying their endorsement and approval.

Information on social security

People should promptly report changes in circumstances that could affect their supplemental security income (SSI) payments and should not wait to hear from social security, according to William D. Gladden, social security district manager in Gulfport.

The SSI program makes monthly payments to people with little or no income and limited resources who are 65 or over or blind or disabled. Failure to report changes—delay in reporting—can mean penalty reductions in payments.

Bay St. Louis downs O'Grove

By NAT KEATING

The Bay St. Louis All-Stars won their first game Sunday with a 6-3 margin over the Orange Grove All-Stars.

Perre Cabell, Kelly and Kerry Geroux, and Melvin Barnes were the top batters for the Bay St. Louis squad with two for four performances. The Bay teams next opponent will be HMBA tonight at 7:30 in Long Beach.

Bay St. Louis jumped to the early lead against Orange Grove with two runs in the first inning. Cabell and Kelly Geraux crossed the plate for the Bay squad in the first. Cabell also came across in the second inning for Bay St. Louis to up the margin to 3-0 before Orange Grove came up with three runs in the bottom of the second inning. Rodney Spence homered for Orange Grove to start the scoring-burst.

Bay St. Louis picked up its final three runs in the seventh inning when Cabell once again came across the plate for the All Stars along with Kelly and Kerry Geroux.

Bay St. Louis manager, Bill Breland, said his team would have to play a better game against their next opponents if they were to continue their winning ways.

"I feel that we were really lucky to get this win. Our boys didn't really play up to their potential, and to beat Long Beach we'll definitely have to. One of our problems today was that we just didn't hit the ball," said the coach.

The salt-water fishing hasn't been too good, mainly because of the unpredictable weather conditions. Most of the fish that have been caught were caught close in and on live bait. There have been some specks and bull croakers caught along the seawall near the mouth of the Jourdan River and up into the river itself.

The salt-water is still well up into the rivers, and so the salt-water fish, jackfish have been seen chasing pogeys and other bait-fish in both the Jourdan and Pearl Rivers. But the rain that we are having may push the salt-water along with the fish out of the rivers for awhile.

Fresh-water fishing has been on the slow side too, but with the rain that we are having things should start happening on the fresh-water scene. There are a few green trout (bass) and bream being caught in our local ponds and bays.

Because of my last column most of my readers probably realize that I don't think very much of the DuPont project. I cannot condone the DuPont project or any other project, be it personal or commercial, that could have a devastating effect on our environment and especially on the delicate ecosystem of our wetlands.

Boat operators should always lend assistance to a fellow boat operator that is in trouble, a person's life could be endangered. The designated signal for help is to stand up in the boat and wave your hands back and forth, if you have a towel or shirt available waving it back and forth could help aid the other boats in spotting you.

Darrell R. Favre, a native of Bay St. Louis now living in Lake Charles caught some nice specks and bull croakers at the cut-off on live shrimp while staying with his grandparents over the weekend.

PEARLINGTON: The water is real clear and salty at Pearlington. Schools of jacks have been seen up the river as far as Highway 90. The only bass that were caught this past weekend were caught on plastic worms, in about the last hour before dark on a falling tide. The only bream that were caught were on fly-rods using yellow popping-bugs, they also were caught late in the evening on a falling tide. The best fishing should be early in the morning. We have some rental skiffs and motors. We open at 5:00 a.m. on Sat. and Sun. and at daylight on weekdays, we are closed on Tues. (Roy Baxter, Pearl River Marina)

ANSLEY: The catches have been small. There have been some redfish caught, people have been reporting having their lines broken by redfish. Mr. Walton, one of our campers caught an 181 lb. red at Big Grassy Island. The east winds have been bringing in some good tides. The tides are coming in during the day and falling late in the afternoon. (Mrs. Toxide Hall, LaFrances Fishing Camp)

KILN: There hasn't been too much fishing going on around here this week. There have been some specks and croakers caught in the river and some sharks have been caught near the I-10 bridge. Some bass have been caught in local ponds on live minnows. The bream have come off the beds, so they aren't doing too good. We have live minnows, worms, crickets and shrimp. We now open at 5:00 a.m. and close at 6:00 p.m. (Andy's Bait Shop, at Kiln Supermarket).

Tax exemption case now set for October

by JAKE JACOB

Circuit Court Judge Floyd Logan this week set Monday, Oct. 10th, as the date of trial in the case of The New Talavan Community for Krishna Consciousness, Inc., vs. the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

Further, the judge ordered attorneys for the plaintiff to file their pleading with him by August 10, and gave counsel for the defendant until August 25 to file answer.

The New Talavan Community for Krishna Consciousness is religious sect who are seeking tax exempt status on some 447 acres of land owned by them in the northern part of Hancock County.

The sect is apparently basing their case on the fact they are a school as well as a church and therefore entitled to the exemption.

The supervisors, on the other hand, state the alleged school has few, if any pupils, and is not accredited by the state either in its curriculum or personnel, and therefore does not qualify them for total exemption.

Hancock County School District.

Students who attended Gulfview, Murphy, or Annunciation School last year do not have to come.

Students should bring birth certificates, report cards from last year, and health certificates.

The county granted the sect tax exemption status on some 10 acres of land, an amount they claim is sufficient for the church.

The council offered their endorsement of the membership drive.

A resident of Byer Drive met with the council to ask that a mobile home be removed since it was her understanding that the residence was in violation of the city zoning code. The mobile home owner will be contacted by city officials.

Two representatives of the housing authority presented a check of over $3,000 for their 1976 taxes and requested relief from paying their 1977 taxes. Consolidation is not a subject to be discarded

The information and endorsements received last week concerning this subject of consolidation of school systems are, to say the least, gratifying.

The lack of official response from either of the school systems concerned is understandable but others have succeeded and the suspected advantages to the taxpayers and children of this county necessitate the continuance of effort.

This week is reprinted the final editorial in a series of four published last year on the subject of consolidation.

It is again advanced that its purpose, like all the rhetoric that has gone before, is to encourage one civic organization, service club, or public body to call a public meeting for the purpose of open end discussion on this subject, complete with "Jackson expertise."

CONSOLIDATION SUPPORT GROWS, VOCATIONAL COURSES FAVORED

Reprint... SEA COAST ECHO
Thursday, May 27, 1976

The U.S. House of Representatives, by a margin of 380-3, this year approved H.R. 12835, the Vocational Education and National Institute of Education Amendments of 1976.

Further, the House approved Vocational Training Act funding hikes from $980 million in the present fiscal year to $1,450 million in fiscal 1982.

In 1985 the nation had some 2.8 million students enrolled in high school vocational programs. By spring of 1976, that figure exceeded seven million.

Quoting national statistics, Congressman Trent Lott this week said 25 percent of students who enter elementary school will drop out before graduation from high school. Of those who graduate, 40 percent will seek immediate employment and only 20 percent will go on to college.

That leaves 80 percent who won't go to college many of whom could benefit from a well-rounded vocational program while still in high school.

Those who choose the vocational route would then be equipped with a solid education in the skill of their choice. They would be ready to enter the job market with a fighting chance to survive and prosper," Lott reasoned.

Responding to state educator recommendations, in February of this year we editorially suggested a public meeting be called to discuss the feasibility of school system consolidation within the county.

The two, prime motivating reasons for our action were economic, and the desire to provide the best available educational opportunity to all students within our county's borders regardless of their place of domicile.

In subsequent editorials, we provided state enabling legislation, and more latterly the suggestion that Hancock North Central be transformed into the high school level vocational unit, with Bay Senior High serving the needs of our academically inclined students.

By and large the response from individuals, in and out of education, has been gratifying. Less enthusiastic has been the attitude of either the county or municipal separate administrative structures. This is understandable.

This week however, we have received the endorsement of responsible county and municipal legislators who are, in principal, in accord with our effort.

With ever-increasing demands being placed on the inflation riddled purses of county taxpayers, we feel it is the duty of our educators to face reality and investigate all avenues open for improvement within responsible budgets.

If consolidation, a subscription to the increasing impact of vocational education, or any combination of factors results in the re-establishment of public confidence into our school systems, all our efforts are worthwhile.

If the same combination can produce a superior education for our county students, all our student - then it becomes almost mandatory for us to maintain an active argument.

This we shall do!

Park vandals maybe faced with multiple judgement

Through the hard work and vision of some of its more diligent residents Hancock County became the owner of a million dollar recreational park.

Located in one of the, at least now, more remote areas of the county, the park is blessed with many fine natural features which include, but are not limited to, live oaks, waterways, picnic meadows, and an abundance of flora and fauna.

To these wonders of nature were added such man-made items as a boat launch, fishing and viewing piers, nature trails, picnic tables, water fountains, a ball park, camping areas, a pavilion, restrooms, roadways, underground water distribution, sewer collection, and electrical systems, with an above ground sewage treatment plant.

Still "in the works" is the completion of the swimming pool.

Even prior to the park's opening vandalism was plaguing the project. Construction equipment was extensively damaged, and fixtures were being destroyed almost as fast as they could be installed.

With the transfer of operating responsibility to the county it had been hoped the persons responsible would cease and desist in their efforts of destruction.

It was not to be.

Instead before the first week was over they had managed to demolish the brand new gate complex and destroy a great many once more repaired fixtures.

Within a couple of weeks their talents had been applied to most of the picnic area including the burning through and removal of a barbecue pit. This effort was followed by their taking a second whack at the ruins of the front gate.

To "celebrate" July 4 weekend, the vandals stacked firewood and other flammables under a bench in the park, lit their accumulation and fled.

The resulting blaze wrought considerable destruction, damage enough to deny the bench to a senior citizen seeking to "bide a wee" in the shade and reminisce on other days, when life was full of joy and sometimes of sorrow; deny the bench to a couple planning their future and overcoming their doubts, and pledging their lives to each other; deny the bench to children meeting the birds they are trying to feed on a one to one, nature to person, basis with all its wonder and introduction to life beyond life.

Coincidentally with this whirlwind of destruction came an increasing number of reports concerning damage to county (and other) equipment at locations widely disbursed throughout the county.

Two, juvenile, culprits have been apprehended in connection with the latter rash of incidents, and law enforcement agencies within the county are firmly remaining quite prepared to extend the hospitality of their "barred confines" to others of any age or either sex, to which the finger points.

Vandals in big cities are seemingly often "explained away" by social reformers as being persons in search of an identity.

Here the majority of us are known, for one reason or another, to each other and few need "go groping around to find out who they are."

When arrested at McLeod Park, the sanitary land fill, private construction sites, public works projects, or any other location, caught in the act of vandalizing equipment or property, the police will assuredly explain to the persons concerned just who they are, their constitutional rights, and the nature of the charges being pressed.

There is one other factor to be considered.

Vandals who tamper with parks and park properties would do well to ask themselves whether or not their act is as remote from observation as they think.

Parks are "preserved segments of nature for mankind to enjoy."

Man made the improvements at McLeod, but the balance, and by far the major part, of the credit belongs elsewhere.

It is not necessary for the vandals to be caught by man for the moving finger to write.

Nor, we must caution, can man erase a word of it... for after the entry is made - the finger continues to move.

Or, to split the metaphor, try to recall for duty the sound made by the last toll of the bell.

That too was for you!

Whittlin' with Whittle

The new Bay St. Louis City Council is making a lot of good points with a number of people. Many folks have noted the general cleanup of city streets, curbs and gutters with a great deal of joy and delight.

The council is conducting their meetings on time and in an orderly, business-like manner and those in attendance have been pleased with the way things are being run at the two hour sessions.

Also, the monthly meetings are held at night and offer the majority of citizens an opportunity to attend. Previously the meetings were held in the morning and very few citizens were able to attend.

In the cleanup campaign by the city, we would like to see some repair and cleanup of the sidewalks on Main Street. The walks are in foul shape (broken, cracked and full of dirt) and do not leave a very good impression in the minds of visitors to the city.

The forth coming Main Street Project will be a tremendous boost to the appearance of the area, but other steps are going to be needed to spruce up the downtown area.

The sewer line repair at the corner of Second and St. George was concluded several weeks ago, but the hole was filled with chert and has not been paved as of this date. It's a rough ride for those driving on the busy street. Sure needs paving.

Trash and garbage are always a problem. People tend to dump where and when they please. We have noticed a couple of areas one near Pearlinton and the other near Bayou Caddy that are real eyesores. No dumping signs of which there are none! do little good unless they are enforced. Another eyesore is on Hwy. 90 just over the Bay Bridge. There are a couple of large trash cans that are filled each weekend and we believe those leaving the trash and garbage are not picknickers or tourists, but someone who finds it convenient to drop their leftovers on the way to work. May not be the case, but it sure appears that way.

A little humor for those visiting the Bay St. Louis City Council meeting last Tuesday night. The sprinklers were running at the front of the city hall and you sure had to pick your time to make a dash for the front door. One lady remarked it was a way to keep the visitors down. Upon leaving, one gentleman almost made it...but didn't and yours truly got an early shower...even though we knew of the sprinkling water.

The Bay-Waveland Humane Society, a very hard working organization, is continuing their battle to secure funds for an animal shelter...something we need very much. They were told revenue sharing funds could not be used for such a purpose. However, they wrote to Congressman Trent Lott and received a letter from the head of the government agency that controls revenue sharing funds, telling them the funds could be used for such a purpose. We would hope our local government leaders would see their way clear to use some of these monies to aid the society in their cause to make this a better and safer place to live. It would also be a great help to our stray pets.

Have a nice day!

Washington report

By Trent Lott

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The man President Carter picked to direct his Office of Management and Budget is a generally affable fellow upon whose broad shoulders has fallen tremendous responsibility.

Bert Lance, the successful Georgia banker turned budget specialist in the Carter Administration, maintains his public image as a fiscal conservative. I have no reason to doubt that image.

Lance, who was a guest on "Mississippi Congressional Report," a monthly television program I do with Congressman G.V. "Sonny" Montgomery, considers every piece of economic matter before it is announced by the President. He thinks his office has two primary functions: authority over the budget requests and coordination of legislation.

Lance and others deeply tied to the President have suggested that some

Dear Sir:

The sordid facts surrounding the inception of DuPont's titanium dioxide plant are well known to all interested citizens, so let it suffice to say that it was spawned in an atmosphere of underhanded maneuvers, and subterfuge.

The next phase of this strange saga was the campaign to convince the local residents and politicians that the only objectors were the foreign, part time residents - those busybodies that were injecting themselves into something that was really none of their business.

I am one of those who have a second home in Hancock County. Though it is a second home, I also have a deep affection for and a vested interest in the Miss. Gulf Coast.

Your editorial "Who Counts?"

establishes the vital contribution 11,000 good neighbor visitors (to Hancock County alone) have on the local economy. I hope Hancock and Harrison Counties have the wisdom to never allow a relatively few additional jobs to negate the many goods and services sold to good neighbor visitors.

Now comes the preposterous phase - an environmental study, not prior to construction, but by a group who agreed "that optimum timing was for completion shortly before startup." Are we expected to be naive enough to believe that DuPont would not start up a multimillion dollar facility if the report was not favorable? Also, there would be the matter of the $12 million Harrison County revenue bonds for the spur construction plus the additional revenue bonds for acquiring right of way.

Relative to the spur, another little vignette of subtle misinformation. The July 14th edition of The Sea Coast Echo described the principal function of the spur as being for the transportation of large quantities of ilmenite ore. I recall an earlier article that described the principal function as being the transportation of chlorine - a very necessary substance, but probably the most insidious and dangerous chemical in existence when released into the environment.

If completed, this plant, that was born in deceit and nurtured in bias and absurdities, will ring the death knell of our beautiful coast.

Sincerely yours,
E. Ray Robertson

Assisting as teachers aides were Mesdames Michael Lang, Joseph Curet, Robert Shubert, William Hudson, Leo Ladner and Oris Ladner and Rhonda Ladner, Denise Moran, Penny Boudro, Shelley Murnon, Carol Mayne, Kathy Fuch and Jan Duplantis.

of black top to the roadway leading to Marine Concrete Structures, Inc., located on the east end of Port Bineville Industrial Park.

Under a proposal worked out the company, the county will undertake the work and be reimbursed in money and return of two, unused lots.

Tabled was a proposal aimed at permitting Burk and Associates, engineers, apply for an 80-20 planning grant from the federal government to apply against preparation of a master plan for Bayou Caddy.

The funds, should the application be approved, would come through NOAA's Coastal Energy Impact Program, via Mississippi Marine Resources Council via Mississippi Marine Resources Council.

The supervisors also read into their record a resolution concerning fixed damages to be demanded of Phillips Petroleum concerning construction of a gas gathering pipeline along the south end of Stennis International Airport. In effect the resolution denies the company the right to build the pipeline without first paying the county a flat damage fee of $25,000 and a promise to remove the line should the airport expand, or as an alternate, a damage fee of $10,000 should they build it 600 feet south of its intended traverse along the southern reaches of the runway.

Webre said the company had failed to agree that such compensation was in order but he reminded supervisors the pipeline was not being built through the "farmer's 40 acres" but through Stennis International Airport.

"We are trying to work with the best interests of the community in mind," Webre said.

He indicated the commission made the offer, the company refused, the commission had not agreed on the installation, but the company went ahead and built the line anyway.

Further, he contended Phillips could have built the line in an alternate location that would have in no way interfered with the airport.

"They (Phillips) have not addressed themselves to any of the requests of the commission," Webre reported.

Supervisors also agreed to permit the South Mississippi Planning and Development District to pursue application for $285,529 in the form of a 100 percent Economic Development Administration grant for the purpose of building a new addition onto the courthouse.

The addition, to be constructed to the south of the existing structure, will contain some 3800 square feet and house offices for the circuit clerk, chancery clerk, and tax assessor.

Plans for the proposed addition have been prepared in joint venture by Fred Wagner, architect, and Burk and Associates, engineers.

Buccaneer Crew Notes

Last week three movies were the start of a jam-packed weekend of fun here at the Park. The public is invited to attend this free weekly activity which is held in the Rec Hall on Friday nights. This week the feature film is "Away We Go," which received the "Gold Camera Award" from the 1971 U.S. Industrial Film Festival as the best film in the safety category, and the "Golden Eagle Award" from the Council on International Nontheatrical Events. While on vacation, we often do things we wouldn't dream of doing during the other weeks of the year. This film points to some common safety hazards that lurk beneath the allure of "getting away from it all."

Although it covers a serious subject, the film itself is done in a fast-moving, entertaining style, recounting the misadventures of some ordinary reasonable people, who don't let caution get in the way of having a good time. Show time is at 8:30 p.m.

This Friday, 8:30 "Death of a Legend" - Documentary on the trials and tribulations of the wolf in America.

Saturday morning all competitive-minded campers gathered on the beach for an action packed baseball game. Young and old alike kicked off their shoes and joined in the fun. Later in the day there was a scavenger hunt with Jerry Todaro, 10, of Gulfport taking first place.

Sunday morning started off with a bang - balloon games including Musical Balloons.

Guard that Balloon, Balloon Relay and Knee-to-Knee Basketball. What started off to be an activity for 5 to 12 year olds ended up to be a thrill for everyone when a Water Balloon Fight broke out. Kenneth Truxillo, 12, of Kenner was the overall winner in the competition.

This Saturday night at 8:30 p.m. there will be a Ping Pong Tournament in the Rec Hall. The contest is free for all interested campers and noncampers 15 years and older. Come join in some real fun - grab your neighbors and head for Buccaneer Park!

Monday night at 8:00 p.m. in the Rec Hall there will be a free 14 minute film on the "Art of Batik."

Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. the full length classic "Birth of a Nation" will be shown in its entirety. The public is cordially invited to attend both showings at no charge.

Bay St. Louis

native honored

Recently Forrest A. Travira, III was presented the Lockport, La. Lions Club's "Citizen of the Year" award in ceremonies in Lockport.

Forrest believes in devoting time to the service of others. He is a member of the American Legion, Lockport Volunteer Fire Department, Executive Officer in the Louisiana Archaeological Society and Scoutmaster for Troop 332 in Lockport.

Jokingly Forrest says he works in his free time for Southern Pacific Railroad as an Agent.

Forrest is originally from Bay St. Louis and his grandmother Mrs. Ester Travira Cuevas still lives here and is also quite active in community services.

Forrest, his wife, Eleanor and three sons Allen, Forrest, IV and Timothy have been residing in Lockport along Bayou Lafourche for the past five years.

Hancock Riding Club member qualifies for Jr. World Show

Mike Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Lee, Leetown Community has earned the JQHA invitation to attend the American Junior Quarter Horse World Championship Show in Tulsa, Okla.

He earned this honor by accumulating the most AQHA points in Mississippi in the Pole Bending Event. As this is an invitation only event, it has become the most prestigious show any young horseman can compete in. Set for Aug. 1-6, entries and delegates are expected from nearly all the United States and several districts of Canada. Entries are expected to top the 1200 mark.

The convention begins on Monday, Aug. 1, when the standing committee meeting, election of new officers, and all other convention business will take place.

World Championship classes begin Tuesday, continuing through Saturday afternoon. All events and activities will be held at the Tulsa State Fairgrounds.

Lee will be showing his horse Fly Fly Sonora. This team have been consistent winners in Pole Bending competition all year. He recently placed first with Fly Fly at the District 4-H Show in Hattiesburg.

"Wizard of Oz" tickets offered

Ticket sales for the musical, THE WIZARD OF OZ, have begun and business is booming, says J. Douglas Andrews, director of the show.

The public's enthusiasm for the musical is extremely encouraging, and Andrews is confident the production will be a complete success.

THE WIZARD OF OZ, based on the 1939 MGM Judy Garland hit, has the perfect formula for success: A - lovable characters like Dorothy, the Tin Man, the Scarecrow, and the Cowardly Lion, plus B - their adversary, the Wicked Witch of the West and her feindish friends, the jitterbugs and the skeletons, equals C - a show packed with laughter and fears and a very happy ending.

The musical will be performed at the Saenger Theater for the Performing Arts in Biloxi, Friday and Saturday nights, July 29th and 30th at 8:00 p.m., and Sunday afternoon, July 31st at 2:30 p.m. Tickets can be purchased at the Saenger Theater or at the Gulf Coast Arts Council Office in the Edgewater Mall and reservations can be made by calling the Saenger Theater at 432-5354.

A 30-minute excerpt from THE WIZARD OF OZ may be seen Saturday, July 23rd, at 10 a.m. in Vieux Marche, and at 2 p.m. in Edgewater Plaza.

The event is sponsored by the Mississippi Arts and Repertory Theatre Association.

MP&LC official speaks out against President's plan

"President Carter's energy program will result in an energy famine in the United States with great unemployment and hardship for the American people," Don Colmer, a vice-president of Mississippi Power & Light Company, said in a speech to the Mississippi Press Association's annual convention here.

He drew a comparison in what happened in the recent New York blackout to situations the nation faces as a result of restrictions on basic energy production and planning. The utility speaker pointed out that many of Consolidated Edison's (the New York electric company) problems have been caused by delays of many years duration, both legal and administrative, which have prevented the company from building facilities to help Con Ed meet New York's electric needs.

Colmer said, "Let me make it abundantly clear that we are not simply opposing the President's program. We are simply fighting for our customers and Mississippians as a whole."

Of the national administration's energy plan, now pending in Congress, he said, "It seeks to place the production, pricing and end-use of all forms of energy under the direction of a single bureaucracy. This bureaucracy will begin with an annual budget of $10.6 billion and with a staff of 20,000 people."

Colmer said that quotations from papers issued by the administration in connection with the national plan show that, "The program's adverse economic features will impact most heavily on Mississippi and its sister states in the South and Southwest."

"In a paper issued from the White House June 2, the overall increase in the cost of energy to industry in the South and Southwest as a result of the program is shown as 20 percent for the Nation but 78 percent for the Southwest and 30 percent for the Southeast.

New England's increase is estimated at 11 percent by the President; New York-New Jersey at 13 percent; the Mid-Atlantic States at 11 percent; and the Midwest at 9 percent."

Continuing, Colmer stated, "We are particularly disenchanted with the part which would require the conversion of our generating plants to a capability to burn coal. Such a program would require three times more expenditure than the net worth of our plants, and would drive up charges to our customers in the same degree. Our customers are entitled to better treatment than to have pressed down on their heads this federal crown of thorns," he said.

Colmer pointed to America's abundant coal reserves, uranium "tailings" already above ground and usable if the nuclear breeder reactor program is adopted, and oil shale as abundant resources to meet the nation's energy needs.

He emphasized, "except for federal restraints, the energy industry has the capability and the desire to keep an expansive American economy fully supplied with its energy requirements...The federal restraints which stand in the way of energy sufficiency constitute the bulk of our problem - and most of them could be relaxed so that two things can occur simultaneously:

"(1) The health and welfare of the people can be protected from endangerment, and

"(2) The energy industry can be freed to develop and deliver the energy requirements of our citizens."

Valorie Young is honored at fair

Mississippi students did well at the 28th International Science Fair held recently in Cleveland, Ohio according to Lawrence Bellipanni, University of Southern Mississippi science education instructor who serves as executive officer for science fairs in Mississippi.

Those earning recognition at the Cleveland event included Valorie Young of Bay High in Bay Saint Louis who received 4th place over-all recognition.

Gov. Cliff Finch honored the group during special ceremonies in Jackson recently by proclaiming "Science Fair Day" commending the students, their teachers and directors of science fairs across the state. He presented certificates designating the students and Bellipanni, who serves as director of the southern regional and the state science fairs, as Colonel on his staff.

Max Berns named to Arts Council

Captain Max Berns of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce has been elected to the board of directors of the Gulf Coast Arts Council. He is active in many various coastwide programs that affect this area.

The Arts Council is affiliated with and partly financed by the Mississippi Arts Commission, a state agency which is affiliated with the federal National Endowments of Arts which makes cash grants to state and local art groups such as little theaters, painters, operas, musical groups, dancers and others, for the most part through the state arts commission.

Much of the efforts of these groups are directed towards the public schools in an effort to enhance the quality of life on the Coast for persons of all ages.

McLeod Water Park, which will be the location for the races, contains picnicking facilities, playground, baseball field, boat ramp, nature trail and other facilities all enhanced by the beautiful century-old oak tree draped in Spanish moss. The water park is located on Texas Flat Road near Kiln.

PESTICIDE CERTIFICATION TRAINING

Melodrama comes to Bay Theatre

by MIKE CUEVAS
The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre, faced with the need for funds to make major playhouse repairs, will present "Classic Comedy Capers" to raise these needed funds August 12 and 13.

Headlining the cabaret style evening at the playhouse on Boardman Avenue will be an old fashioned, turn of the century, melodrama, "Adrift on Life's Sea, or a Fate Worse Than Death," to be directed by Laurie Kieffer Byrd. The audience will be provided with free popcorn to pitch at that nasty villain Casius Carstairs as he pursues our heroine, Carlotta Flowers, who is ultimately saved by Burgess Lundahand, hero of the day!

There will be vaudeville entertainment between acts. Be sure to watch for the roving photographer, those cutie usherettes and refreshments girls.

Tickets will go on sale July 25 for Little Theatre members and for the general public August 1, at Michael's Art and Gift Shoppe, Main St. Bay St. Louis and the Golden Harbor, Old "Shopping Center", Waveland, or by calling 467-4747 9 a.m. - 10 p.m.

There will be a pesticide certification training in the Agriculture Center Building, 405 Necaise Avenue, Bay St. Louis, Thursday night, July 21, 1977. If you are interested in becoming certified for use of pesticides, please attend this meeting. The meeting will start at 7:00 p.m. and should be over by 10:00-10:30 p.m. The Pesticide Certification Program becomes effective October 21, 1977. If you use any pesticide or herbicide you should take this training in order to be able to buy pesticides for your home use.

CORN SILAGE HARVEST
Corn silage harvest will begin during July in Mississippi. Harvesting at the proper time is an important part of good quality corn silage production. Most producers tend to harvest too early. Wait until the grain is in the full dent stage to begin harvesting. Grain moisture should be about 35 percent and the whole plant moisture should be about 65 percent.

Keep harvesting equipment in good condition. Knives must be sharp enough to get a good clean cut. Good cutting helps assure proper packing.

WASP PROBLEM
Wasps are a problem when they build nests under the eaves of homes or in shrubbery. Night is the best time to destroy wasp nests. Most of the wasps are on the nests at night, so you will kill larger numbers. Because they are less active at night, you are less likely to get stung. It is still necessary to work quickly, however.

Two or three puffs of a recommended insecticide dust or spray will usually kill the entire colony within 24 hours.

SAFETY EMBLEMS
The fluorescent material on slow moving vehicle signs used on farm equipment often fades within two or three years. Damaged or faded slow moving vehicle signs are difficult to see and lose their effectiveness as warning emblems. Check these important signs on your farm equipment to see if they need replacing. Safety on the farm is an excellent investment.

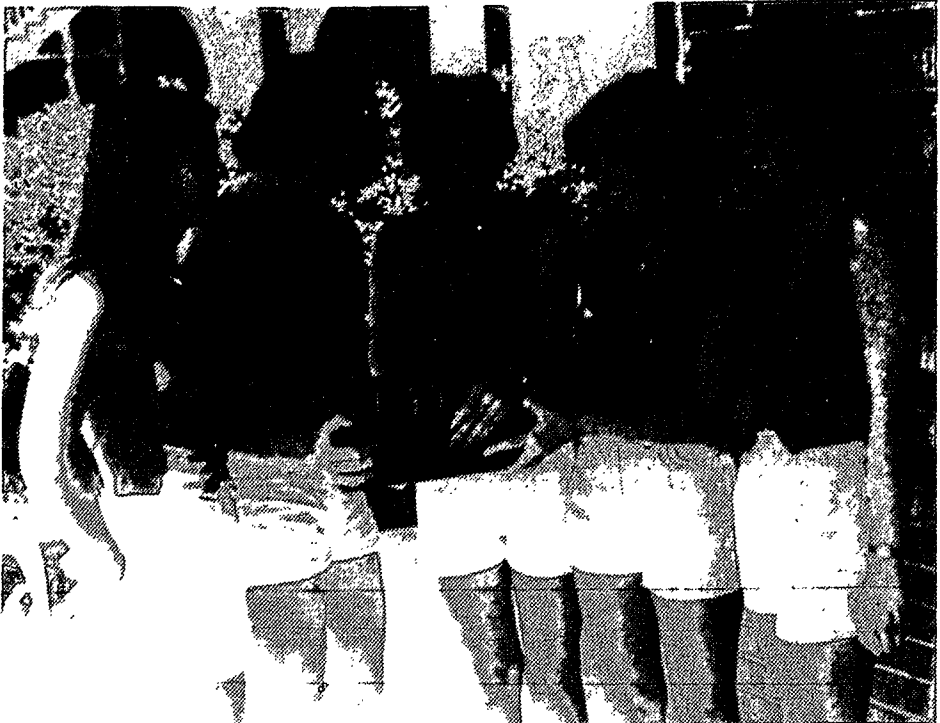

CARE FOR FIG TREES
Fig trees need proper care to stay healthy and productive. Applications of fertilizer will help keep them in top shape. The recommended rate is one-third pound of eight-eight-eight fertilizer for one and two year old trees. Apply in mid-July and again in mid-August. Apply fertilizer to older, larger trees in late July. Local county Extension offices have detailed information on caring for fruit trees.

TIME FOR SOIL SAMPLES
Take soil samples now to determine lime and fertilizer needs for pasture or for row cropland to be planted this fall. Soil testing takes the guesswork out of the lime and fertilizer programs. Be certain to obtain a representative sample from each field to be tested. This assures a sound recommendation from the soil testing laboratory. Poor samples will result in inaccurate recommendations. Local county Extension agents have complete directions for taking soil samples.

RECREATION

Birthday time is here again, it is for any senior who is celebrating a birthday in July, along with all the other seniors, who would like to attend our July birthday celebration on Monday July 25th at 1:30 p.m. at the Senior Citizens Center, located in the Valena C. Jones School building on the Old Spanish Trail in Bay St. Louis. Refreshments, consisting of home made cakes and punch will be served. Entertainment will be furnished by yours

Seniors of Hancock County if you know of a Senior who is ill, please contact Fred Horn or Jim Hoda at 467-9292. We have R.S.V.P. volunteers who would be glad to call them. We never realize how wonderful it is to hear a friendly voice over the telephone or to have someone visit you when you are ill.

WAVELAND
Mrs. Ruby Life, President and Mrs. Pere Cabibi, Secretary of the Waveland Senior Citizens Club, attended the International Womens Year Conference in Jackson last week (week of July 11th) and were impressed with the information they received in regards to the Senior Citizen's Workshops. Congressman Thad Cochran of Mississippi explained various types of bills now being presented before Congress, that will help our Senior Citizens, especially in the area of traveling.

Hurricane preparedness for Senior Citizens was stressed very highly, notably to take your prescriptions with you to your designated shelter, as the Red Cross would get them filled in the event a Doctor would not be available. Incidentally, last month Bobby Boudin, Hancock County Civil Defense Director and Ed Fritoux, Chief of the Diamondhead Fire Department presented three films on preparedness for various types of disasters, namely, "Flash Floods, Tornadoes and Hurricanes, along with a narration on each film at the Senior Citizens Center in Bay

THE OLE PASTOR SAYS...

A DEVOTIONAL COMMENTARY

IN OUR MODERN SUPER SOPHISTICATED SOCIETY of soft-cushioned religion we are seeing lots of religious circuses, sensationalism and pretentious evangelism passed off on a gullible generation under the code names of "praise, testimony and soul-winning." Sham and religious veneer is everywhere. The masses are being stall-fed on high-sounding religious rhetoric.

When one brings in question the "scriptural credibility of this un-certain sound" coming from the camps of the Charismatics, Ecumenicals and "Neo-Evangelists," he is reminded that we are living in a "day of change."

To be sure, there should be change in some things - change which replaces error with truth. Change for the better is always in order. I am for change for the better, but not for the worse. I am for any change which brings us more in harmony with the Word of God. I am unalterably opposed to any and all change which violates the principles of the Holy Scriptures. The battle for the minds and hearts of men is raging everywhere. Many theological seminaries are hot-beds of heresy. Demon spirits are moving in high places. Satan is fronting under the guise of "scholarship" to deceive the unsuspecting.

There is a vast difference between the position of modern theological liberalism and conservatism or Biblical fundamentalism. And we will be wise to recognize the difference!

Most real Bible-believers "have had it up to here" with this late-date rash of "New Translations," "Modern Versions" and the like. Does the devil plan to frustrate people so completely that he will finally give us a "Bible" of man's word and not God's?

Is there a "Salvific Plan" to substitute modern thought for inspiration or "thus saith the Lord?" Modernism would substitute "infallible scholarship" for an infallible Book - the Bible as given to us by God through "holy men of old." A development of religious ideas from human minds instead of a revelation from God. Sinfully depraved men need regeneration, not reformation. It is conversion they need, and not culture. Men need a change of heart, not so much a change of environment. They got Lot's wife out of Sodom, but I am afraid they never did get Sodom out of Lot's wife. We need a cleaning from the inside.

Modern day Christianity would preach to us a social gospel instead of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. It is about time we realize again, if indeed we have ever done so before, the urgency of preaching the Word of God as it is for men as they are.

"Don't let philosophical platitudes and sophisticated pulpit manners blind you! Don't kid yourself! False religion is everywhere today as it was in other times."

"But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, . . . and many shall follow their pernicious ways; . . ." - II Peter 2:1-2.

False doctrine should be unmasked by the Word of God for all to see and understand it for what it is, the work of Satan.

"What is false doctrine?" asked a teacher to a class of junior boys. Up went a boy's hand and there came forth this answer: "It's when the doctor gives the wrong stuff to people who get sick and they die."

That's a pretty good description of what we are hearing from many pulpits and the new schools of modern theology.

-L. S. Walder

NATIONAL FARM SAFETY WEEK

The 1977 National Farm Safety Week, July 25-31, marks the 34th consecutive observance of this special safety activity co-sponsored by the National Safety Council (NSC), and the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). Launched in 1944 to reduce losses that impaired war-time agricultural production, Farm Safety Week is focused on accident problems that destroy human and economic resources in agricultural communities. Its aim is to provide prevention measures for agricultural producers and those who work with and serve them.

"This year, emphasis is on the wisdom of making a personal and financial investment in safety to help cut the human and economic costs of accidents," the NSC said. Agriculture is the nation's biggest industry with assets running into the hundreds of billions of dollars.

Farmers and ranchers have substantial investments in land, facilities, equipment and animals. Also, they invest a great deal of themselves - time, energy, skill, mind, muscle, heart-into the operation of their enterprises, the USDA said.

Making an investment in safety can pay impressive dividends. It can help save lives and prevent sadness, suffering and disruption of family life. It can also help keep people on the job - full time, undiminished, unimpaired. If facilities and equipment are properly maintained for maximum safety, and they will also perform at their most productive, efficient and economical best.

Farm and ranch people can achieve much by investing some time and effort in adopting safer ways of working, playing and driving.

Henderson Point VFD Auxiliary to have benefit

Baby clothes and furniture, toys and games, fashions for ladies, boots and jewelry, household and kitchen items, shoes and children's furnishings, will all be for sale this weekend at Henderson Point.

A rummage sale, sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Henderson Point, Pass Christian Volunteer Fire Department, will feature these and many more "items of interest and worth" from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 300 Livingston Drive (off Bayview).

Proceeds from the sale will be utilized to provide a hot water heater and other much needed furnishings to the group's new fire hall off US-90, across the bayou from Barrett's Marine.
